

TRASHEDWORLD - GRAFFITI

Hi everybody. Welcome to TrashedWorld Graffiti - Resources for Young Learners! You'll find ideas for teaching English and saving the planet.

Keith Kelly (May 13th 2024)

Graffiti - Good or Bad?

Our young author Alex has been busy writing stories. In this collection we will read all about how our five friends fight to save their local environment. The friends get to grips with graffiti where they live and around the world. They find problems and work together on the solutions.

The five friends learn about street art - Artists famous for their street artwork are discovered and some of their work is explored.

They also find vandalism and destruction of buildings at home and abroad. Our intrepid friends suggest ways to fix the problems and don't leave till they do! They get involved in local art projects which help to turn their neighbourhoods and zones of the city into more beautiful places to live.

Find friends and work together If you work with early years learners (grade 1 to 4) who are learning to read and write and you are interested in sustainability issues and the environment, citizenship and much more, then this project is just for you!

Sign up to TrashedWorld and access all the sustainability stories and explore to find projects to motivate your learners in learning English and caring for their environment. You can also find partners to share your students' work and see what others are doing.

Publish your students' work

- We already have a growing collection of students' work on TrashedWorld, and there is plenty of space to exhibit your students' work too.

Art work, photography, posters, texts, sketches, craftwork – just take a picture, or if you can, send us the original, and we will include it in the section for students' work in the project you have done with your class. This way other schools can see what we do, and get involved to do more of the same.

Keep your eyes peeled for new projects

- We are writing new stories and resources on looking after our planet all the time, so call back and browse from your account to see what is new.

If you have a theme you would like us to develop, just get in touch and we will produce something special for that theme and share it in TrashedWorld.

Learning by doing

- Children learn best by doing practical activities, and that applies to language and concepts. So, join us and get your children learning English while they protect the planet!